RISK MANAGEMENT

Risk Management Process

The AIFM employs a risk management process which identifies and addresses the following main risks in particular:

- Market risk - the risk of loss for the Company resulting from fluctuation in the market value of positions held in the Company attributable to changes in market variables, such as interest rates, foreign exchange rates, equity and commodity prices or an issuer's credit worthiness. Market risk includes the risk arising from leveraging and inappropriate diversification. Leveraging encompasses the global risk exposure while diversification includes counterparty limits associated with OTC derivatives as well as concentration limits. Leverage' means any method by which the fund manager increases the exposure of a fund it manages whether through borrowing of cash or securities, or leverage embedded in derivative positions or by any other means;
- Liquidity risk - the risk of not being able to liquidate a position in a timely manner at a reasonable price to meet obligations of the Company. Liquidity risk also includes the ability and cost of borrowing if required by the Company.
- Counterparty/Credit risk - is the risk of loss if a counterparty fails to perform or meet its financial obligations (e.g. to repay principal and/or interest in a timely manner) to the Company.
- Operational risk - the risk of loss arising from inadequate or failed internal processes, systems, third parties, external events, people and fraud.
- Regulatory risk - the risk of a fund violating a specific regulatory requirement, as well as a Board-imposed restriction, client guideline, prospectus, and eligibility requirements.

Risk management policies and procedures define qualitative or quantitative risk limits as well as procedures to ensure that exposures of the Funds to market, liquidity, counterparty, operational and all other relevant risks are identified and appropriately managed.

Risk profile

The Company will periodically disclose the current risk profile of the Company to investors. The Company will make this disclosure on its website at the same time as it makes its annual report and accounts available to investors or more frequently at its discretion.

Liquidity risk management

The AIFM has a liquidity management policy in relation to the Company which is intended to ensure that the Company's investment portfolio maintains a level of liquidity which is appropriate to the Company's obligations. This policy involves an assessment by the AIFM of the prices or values at which it expects to be able to liquidate its assets over varying hypothetical periods in varying market conditions, taking into account the sensitivity of particular assets to particular market risks and other relevant factors.

Shares in the Company are not redeemable and shareholders do not have the right to require their shares to be purchased by the Company. Accordingly, the liquidity management policy ensures that the Company's investment portfolio is sufficiently liquid to meet the following principal obligations:

The Company's operating and financing expenses are typically in practice covered by dividends received from the Company's investments; and the possible need to repay borrowings at short notice, which would require to be met by the sale of assets.

The liquidity management policy requires the AIFM to identify and monitor its investment in asset classes which are considered to be relatively illiquid. The majority of the Company's investment portfolio is invested directly in liquid equities and this equity portfolio is monitored on an ongoing basis to ensure that it is adequately diversified.

The liquidity management policy is reviewed and updated, as required, on at least an annual basis.

The Company will periodically disclose to investors the percentage of the Company's assets which are subject to special arrangements arising from their illiquid nature if any. The Company will make this disclosure on its website at the same time as it makes its annual report and accounts available to investors or more frequently at its discretion.

Leverage

The Company may employ gearing up to 130% of net assets and in accordance with the AIFM Directive calculation methodologies it may employ up to 150% under the Commitment method and 180% under the Gross method.

Professional negligence liability risks

The AIFM maintains sufficient own funds to cover professional liability risks in accordance with the AIFM Directive.

Updates to information

The Company will update changes to this information as required by AIFMD through its Report and Accounts, an update of this document, its website and a regulatory information service.
